PROPOSALS
BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,
for publishing by subscription,
BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS
TO THE
eclaration of Independence,
ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES;
which will be annexed a history of the roceedings of congress during the pas-ge of the law, and the Declaration it-lf, with fac-simile engravings of the ignatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq.

TO THE PUBLIC.

' seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been present-for American Biography, the lives of se who have affixed their signatures to Declaration of Independence have been rlooked or disregarded. The eyes of usands have dwelt with rapture upon the ument that announced to the world that ese United Colonies were, and of right ght to be, free, sovereign, and indepennt states;" while we are better acquaint-with the handwriting than with the cha-cters of many of those illustrious men o have added their signatures to that in-ument. The founders of the only reining republic on the globe, have, with ew splendid exceptions, gone to their aves, and it behoves a generous posterity, nsible of their obligations, to preserve eir fame. The longer we neglect the yment of so sacred a debt, the more diffilt does the payment become.—Traits of lividual character are fugitive and eva-scent; and if they are not snatched by e hand of the Biographic Muse, at an ear-season, from the cold grasp of death, will on partake of the oblivion of the body.— is not the object of the present attempt, deal in that profusion of indiscriminate d unsparing panegyric, so often and so sely dignified with the name of Biogra-y: we wish to represent the characters they were; they stand in need of no pagyric; and we earnestly solicit from the rviving relations and friends of those re-lutionary patriots all the information that ll tend to a developement of character.
an is the creature of circumstance, and wish to show the progress of those pats from their first resistance of colonial gression, until they stood forth the noble d undaunted champions of their country's dependence. All this can only be done a familiar acquaintance with the lives of ese men, and whoever of the surviving ends or relatives will furnish facts and rcumstances in their possession to unfold d illustrate their characters, shall be en-led to a copy of the work as a recom-nse. It is contemplated, wherever it is acticable, further to embellish the medited work with correct likenesses of the bjects of our biography, executed by the ost eminent artists in the country. For is purpose we again solicit the assistance their surviving relatives and friends. If ey will transmit to the publisher any en-aving or portrait from which a copy may taken, the original shall be faithfully rerned, and shall likewise be remunerated ith a copy of the work. In the first num-r it is proposed to give an account of the eclaration of Independence, from the first otion that was made on the floor of coness until its final passage into a law, a pe-od embracing much curious and secret story: finally, we promise to add to our st number the Declaration of Indepen-nce itself, with fac-simile engravings of e signatures. We have now compendi-sly stated the objects of our present un-rtaking, and we hope that it will be uncessary to mention that no exertions on r part shall be spared.
The public are now in possession of our oject, which does indeed seem to be deanded, by the avidity so recently display-d for the possession of the Declaration of dependence, since it is of very little imrt to become acquainted with a man's nd writing without a previous knowledge the man. The secret history of our Dearation of Independence, the lives of those ho have affixed their signatures to that inrument, accompanied by their likenesses, nd finally the Declaration itself with facmiles of the signatures, will bring into one mpact view the prominent facts of that teresting crisis.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in num-ers, or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo, nd will be contained in ten numbers.
II. It will be printed on fine paper made xpressly for the purpose, and delivered to bscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per lf volume or number, payable on delivy.

Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.
ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18

To the Public.

AN unusual sensibility has been excited in the minds of our countrymen by the copper plate engraving of the Declaration of Independence recently published, accompanied by fac similes of the signatures of those illustrious patriots who framed the document by which our independence was announced to the world. We feel, while we dwell on those signatures, as if we were ushered into the immediate presence of characters so exalted, and we seem for a time to participate in all the emotion which they felt on the approach of so awful a crisis—Hostile armies, desolate fields, towns and cities in conflagration—carnage and death in its most frightful forms appeared in prophetic vision on the one hand, and more than all, the complicated horrors, ignominy and slavery were presented for their acceptance on the other; they deliberated, they paused, they trembled, and at last solemnly appealing to the God of battles, they resolved that the United States were and ought to be free, sovereign and independent. These illustrious patriots, with five solitary exceptions, have now mingled with the common mould—they survive only in their country's glory and in the recollection of a grateful people. But it would be consoling to the present generation, separated as they now are from those patriots, by the intervention of the tomb, to become more intimately acquainted with their revolutionary benefactors. We love to dwell on the features of such men, snatched by the pencil from the oblivion of the grave, and emulate the prominent feats of their biography. Impressed with these ideas, the subscriber proposes, if suitable encouragement is given, to publish the lives of those patriots in numbers, until the whole is completed. The work will be executed in a style not inferior to any European productions, and the portraits by masters of acknowledged merit. The biography will be written by Paul Allen, esq. whose intimacy with the several signers, whose familiarity with the privations and hardships they had to undergo, and whose well known talents will be sufficient to ensure the patronage of an enlightened people. In the execution of this work, all that the publisher dares to promise is, that he will endeavor to deserve the confidence of his countrymen, and that no exertion on his part will be wanting to prevent an abuse of that confidence. He ventures to solicit the assistance of those gentlemen in possession of authentic facts and anecdotes, by communicating the intelligence that will serve to illustrate the characters and to enrich the biography of those founders of the American Republic.—Those who are in possession of their portraits would enlarge the obligation by a loan of the same.

A prospectus with the terms will be given in a few days.

ALEXANDRIA:
FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1819.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON

Thursday, March 4.

The closing of the session of congress, which took place yesternight, at a late hour, exhibited in the house of representatives, a full exemplification of the grievous mischiefs arising to the republic from the indulgence of would be orators, in the unrestrained licence of loquacity. In consequence of the merciless demolition of the greater part of the session, by speeches having scarcely an end, as destitute of object as of end, and not seldom almost as guiltless of meaning as of either, several bills and other measures of prime importance to the public, were tossed off into the lumber garret, to remain there collecting dust till the next session shall draw them forth—perhaps to be again taken away for another and another year. That very important bill enacting a change in the disposal of the public lands, was one of these, though it was evident that an immense majority of the house were in its favor, and though its passage was highly necessary to the preservation of the public property. By way of retrieving their lost time, the house crowded as much business as they could into the last few days—and in such sort that it is no wonder that on the last evening, like a multitude, who, struggling to get out of a house on fire, get wedged together at the door, impeding each other's escape, they should have choaked up the passage, and left too many behind. The privation of the territory of Missouri of her rights to become a state for another year, is an evil to the people of that country, for which they have a right to execrate speechifiers. Had no more than was conducive to the public benefit, and to the ample elucidation of every case, been said during the session, short as it was, not a case need have been left on the docquett of congress. But if congress, instead of being a place of grave, sober discussion of legislative measures, is to be converted into a prattling school of rhetoric—a national riding house, as it were, where all the young colts of the woods, with their long, shaggy hair hanging loose upon them, their fetlocks untrimmed, and their manes bushed up and clothed, are to be lunged in the ring, and backed and cavisond, and fitted for curvetting and prancing in their country courts, it is absolutely necessary that some extra provision should be made for the dispatch of the national business—a kind of deputy congress in which the substantial concerns of the union should be managed, while the principal should be devoted exclusively to the amusement and exercise of the elected Rhetoricians. Nothing can be more clear than that the national legislature cannot continue to go on, in this respect, as it has for the last four sessions—and above all, that which has just gone by without an abandonment of the purposes for which congress was instituted.

The Florida government bill has passed—and so has that additional, the law for preventing the importation of slaves.

The house adjourned, and the session ended—not till past nine o'clock at night.

CONGRESS.

From the National Intelligencer, March 3.

The senate were principally occupied, yesterday, in discussing of private bills, of which we are not able to obtain an account for this day's paper.

Between the Senate and House of Representatives, yesterday, the bill for the admission of Missouri territory in the Union, was rejected. The house refused, by a majority of two votes, to concur in the amendment of the senate, for expunging the restriction on slavery in the new state. The senate adhered to its amendment, and the house to its disagreement. The bill fell through of course. This decision, however, does not affect the bill for erecting a new territorial government in the southern part of the Missouri territory.

In like manner was lost, by a disagreement respecting amendments, the bill supplimentary to the act prohibiting the importation of slaves.

From the same, of March 4.

The Congress of the United States adjourned last evening, beyond which their constitutional term of service did not permit them to extend the Session. The List of the Laws passed at the present session which we shall publish, will shew what has been done. For the present we must content ourselves with stating some of the most prominent proceedings.

First in importance, it may be mentioned that the bill which had passed the Senate, changing the mode of disposing of the Public Lands, did not pass. It was debated a short time yesterday, in the House of Representatives, put aside by an accidental interruption of the proceedings on it, and not resumed. Enough, however, transpired, to shew that somewhere about two-thirds of the House were in favor of the principle of the bill, and that it would have passed had time been allowed for a proper discussion of it, which was vehemently denied, and with some reason too, by the opponents of the bill. Indeed too many propositions of real importance have, for the same reason, slept out their existence.

The bill authorizing the establishment of a provisional government for Florida, in the event of the ratification of the treaty of cession by Spain, has become a law.

The bill fixing the day, (the second Monday in November,) for the meeting of the next congress, which had passed the senate, failed in the house of representatives, being indefinitely postponed, on the motion of Mr. Barbour.

The bill concerning Invalid Pensioners, and the bill establishing additional post routes, have become laws.

The act to amend the act incorporating the subscribers to the bank of the United States has become a law.

The bill in addition to the acts prohibiting the importation of slaves into the U. States, was not, as we had supposed, lost, in consequence of a disagreement between the two houses respecting the amendments. It has become a law, and is perhaps the most interesting to the national character of any act passed during the present session.

That act authorizes the president to direct the armed vessels of the United States to intercept, on the coast of Africa or elsewhere, any vessels engaged in the slave trade, and bring them into the U. States. It provides for the allowance of twenty five dollars for every slave brought into the U. S. under circumstances justifying the belief of an intention to introduce them illegally into the U. S.—and of fifty dollars for each slave discovered to have been illegally introduced into the U. S. The slaves, when thus captured on the ocean, or discovered in our country, to be held in trust by the U. S. until they can be transported back to Africa, &c.

Mr. Scott, the delegate from Missouri, yesterday attempted, but without success, to prevail on some one of those who acted to adhere to the disagreement to the amendment of the senate to the Missouri state bill, to obtain a reconsideration of that vote. It is proper to state, that, though as much opposed as any one to the restriction, proposed, to be imposed on slavery in the new state, the delegate from the present territory of Missouri used his best exertions to obtain the passage of the bill with that feature, rather than postpone its passage for another year. He failed in his object; and, for another year, the territorial form of government continues to exist in Missouri. [Ibid.

Washington, March 3.

Major General Jackson, with his suite, arrived in this city about day-light yesterday morning. The day previously he had reviewed a brilliant assemblage of the Baltimore citizen-soldiery, and partook of a Public Dinner at Williamson's; after which he commenced his journey to Washington.

From the Boston Repertory.

General Jackson has lately made a tour of pleasure to the city of New-York. He has been received at that place, and in the cities through which he passed, on his way from Washington, with a pompous display of gratitude, and with the most fulsome and ill-timed salutation. Some of the newspapers are almost exclusively occupied with the descriptions of ceremonies and festivals decreed in honor of him. In N. York he was honored by a Ball, a Dinner, the Freedom of the city and other distinctions. At the ball, on his entering the dancing hall "a salute was fired from a minature fort, raised on the orchestra, opposite to the entrance"—a most happy conceit, quite military, and entirely appropriate. But the greatest honor conferred on him, if it be estimated by the effort of mind and imagination which it must have cost, is a letter from a committee of the "Tammany Society, or Columbian order" communicating a resolution of that body, declaring that the conduct of General Jackson in the Seminole war "was justified by the laws of nations, the laws of war, and the immutable principles of retaliation and self defence." The following is an extract from this letter, and we are bound in justice to declare our belief, that the gentlemen of this Columbian order are as distinguished for their sound judgment in questions of national law, as for their exquisite taste and admirable fancy in the department of fine writing.

"The very extraordinary and brilliant events which occurred in terminating the late glorious war with Great Britain, have stampt, with imperishable eclat, the American name; especially the transcendant scene which closed the last act, of inflated British pride and folly at New Orleans. To you, sir, under the divine auspices; and the amor patria of our brave, our virtuous western brethren, our country is indebted for the result of that most unprecedented day.

"Columbia's voice in peals of iron thunder, proclaimed the dread fiat of that eventful morn! Terra, was drench'd with human gore! the perturbed elements were hush'd! Mars and Bellona retired from the ensanguined field! and godlike peace resumed her gentle reign! But how transitory are the fleating views, and hopes of credulous man! the furies are again unchained, personated by Spaniard, Briton, Indian, congenial trio! with unrelenting malice planned, and matured in Pluto's conclave, they again rush forth to reap the fruits of infamy in desolation and in blood! The arsenal of Heaven still preserved an avenging sword, to punish their long cultivated perfidy.—The genius of our country placed it in your efficient hand—the insulted honor of our aspiring glory, so long suffered with impunity by an imbecile, treacherous nation, and the panders of a venal court, together with the less criminal, ignorant Aborigines—sons of nature—was promptly avenged—justice, honor, humanity, marched in your train to the fields of glory.

"The Seminole war with all its thorns, has entwined a laurel round your brow, imperishable as time. We approbate your noble deeds, and greet you HERO.—Scourge of British insolence, Spanish perfidy, and Indian cruelty—these, sir, are the sentiments of the sons of liberty in N. York, who compose the national institution of Tammany Society or Columbian Order, (No. 1. of the United States)—Here, sir, we guard the patriot flame—"preserved by concord" its effulgence in a blaze of glory, shall surround and accompany you to the temple of interminable FAME and HONOR. The hearts of your countrymen, swoln with indignation at the malignant blasts of persecuting envy, expanded to explosion; and in one spontaneous effusion, willed the enclosed preamble and resolutions."

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

Boston, Feb. 26.

Last evening about 10 o'clock commenced one of the most severe gales experienced here for some time. The tide, it is said, rose higher than it has been known to do for many years past, and overflowed many of our principal wharves. The gale continued during the greater part of the night; and the damage of the shipping has been great, as will be seen from the subsequent account, which contains all the particulars that have yet come to hand:

Brig Sampson, of Boston, lies across the dock, between Central and India wharves, with part of her bottom stove in, on her beam ends, full of water—brigs Jane and Monroe, of Boston, drove from their fasts from the end of Central wharf, up to the head of the dock, and are injured—brig Betsy of Wiscasset, parted her fasts at Foster's wharf, drove up the dock, bowsprit and foretopmast carried away, and part of her larboard side stove in; Ship Bristol Trader, of Thomastown, parted her fasts at Barnes's wharf, drove against brig Janus of Saco, at the end of Packard's wharf, which also parted her fast and drove into the dock—the Janus had her mainmast carried away, and foremast sprung, her quarter boards stove in, &c.—the Bristol Trader then drove against ship Isis, of Boston, at Fort Hill wharf, her fasts parted, and both ships drove into the dock north side of Liverpool wharf—the Bristol Trader lies on her beam ends, her stern all knocked away and her masts and yards lying across the wharf. The Isis has lost her foremast, bowsprit and figure head, and is considerably chafed—schr. Lorenzo, at Tilleys wharf, had her stern stove in.—Ship Dromo, at Foster's wharf is slightly damaged. The brig New Leader drifted from the end of Liverpool wharf to Curtis's wharf, with little damage—another brig lying at Liverpool wharf was slightly damaged. The schr. Marcy, a wood cutter, broke from her moorings, and drifted into the dock of Liverpool wharf, and the stern of the Isis carried away her head rail and timber heads. The brig Charity parted her fasts at long wharf, and drifted up the dock carrying away the trysail boom of the brig Factor, and her own figure-head and quarter boards. The pink-stern schr. Henry, Knox, of Cohasset, lying at Long wharf, knocked her own stern to pieces, and stove in the cabin windows &c. of schr. Little William. The schooner Quaker, parted her fasts, drifted from the T. and brought up at Jenisons ways.

Accounts from Claiborne, (Alabama Territory) of the 6th ult. state, that the Spanish troops had arrived off Barancas, to take possession of West Florida—that captain Boyles had removed all the banditti, which had been so long prowling below the line, wantonly destroying the U. States property at pleasure, and taking away the lives of our citizens with impunity—and that Col. King was engaged in removing the United States property; and would move with the troops to Montpelier.

There were 64,891 hhds. of tobacco exported from the United States during the year ending 30th September, 1817; and 84,337 hhds. exported in 1818.

LOSS OF THE BRIG HOLKAR.

Capt. Tarquin, of the schooner Mayflower, who has arrived at Charleston, in 18 days from Aux Cayes, informs, that the brig Holkar, on her passage from Curracoa or New York, foundered at sea. Captain Brown (a passenger) and six men took to the long boat, and arrived at a small place called Bobey, in the Island of St. Domingo. The captain of the Holkar and 2 men took to the small boat, and it is presumed they must have perished, as no tidings have been heard of them. Capt. T. did not learn what day the H. foundered.

We are authorised to state that Cuthbert Powel, Esq. declines being considered a Candidate for the Senate for the next election.

We are authorised to announce William H. Fitzhugh Esq. of Fairfax, as a Candidate for the next Senatorial district, composed at the next election, of the counties of Loudoun, Fairfax, and Fauquir.

Ganston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.
September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

PROPOSALS
BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,
for publishing by subscription,
A BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS
TO THE
Declaration of Independence,
ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES;

To which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the passage of the law, and the Declaration itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq.

TO THE PUBLIC.

IT seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been presented for American Biography, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to the Declaration of Independence have been overlooked or disregarded. The eyes of thousands have dwelt with rapture upon the document that announced to the world that "these United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free, sovereign, and independent states;" while we are better acquainted with the handwriting than with the characters of many of those illustrious men who have added their signatures to that instrument. The founders of the only remaining republic on the globe, have, with a few splendid exceptions, gone to their graves, and it behoves a generous posterity, sensible of their obligations, to preserve their fame. The longer we neglect the payment of so sacred a debt, the more difficult does the payment become.—Traits of individual character are fugitive and evanescent; and if they are not snatched by the hand of the Biographic Muse, at an early season, from the cold grasp of death, will soon partake of the oblivion of the body.—It is not the object of the present attempt, to deal in that profusion of indiscriminate and unsparing panegyric, so often and so falsely dignified with the name of Biography: we wish to represent the characters as they were; they stand in need of no panegyric; and we earnestly solicit from the surviving relations and friends of those revolutionary patriots all the information that will tend to a developement of character. Man is the creature of circumstance, and we wish to show the progress of those patriots from their first resistance of colonial aggression, until they stood forth the noble and undaunted champions of their country's independence. All this can only be done by a familiar acquaintance with the lives of these men, and whoever of the surviving friends or relatives will furnish facts and circumstances in their possession to unfold and illustrate their characters, shall be entitled to a copy of the work as a recompense. It is contemplated, wherever it is practicable, further to embellish the meditated work with correct likenesses of the subjects of our biography, executed by the most eminent artists in the country. For this purpose we again solicit the assistance of their surviving relatives and friends. If they will transmit to the publisher any engraving or portrait from which a copy may be taken, the original shall be faithfully returned, and shall likewise be remunerated with a copy of the work. In the first number it is proposed to give an account of the Declaration of Independence, from the first motion that was made on the floor of congress until its final passage into a law, a period embracing much curious and secret history: finally, we promise to add to our last number the Declaration of Independence itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures. We have now compendiously stated the objects of our present undertaking, and we hope that it will be unnecessary to mention that no exertions on our part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our project, which does indeed seem to be demanded, by the avidity so recently displayed for the possession of the Declaration of Independence, since it is of very little import to become acquainted with a man's hand writing without a previous knowledge of the man. The secret history of our Declaration of Independence, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to that instrument, accompanied by their likenesses, and finally the Declaration itself with facsimiles of the signatures, will bring into one compact view the prominent facts of that interesting crisis.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers, or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo, and will be contained in ten numbers.

II. It will be printed on fine paper made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per half volume or number, payable on delivery.

☞ Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Alexandria Gazette.
